See Something/Say Something!

Threats to workplace safety can take many forms, from unattended items to unusual behavior. Identifying and reporting these concerns early can help prevent security incidents before they escalate.

DOA Safety & Security urges the airport community to remain vigilant and watch for unauthorized individuals in restricted areas, unattended packages, unexpected changes in behavior from colleagues or customers, and unusual requests for access or sensitive information.

By remaining observant and aware of your surroundings, you can help identify and prevent potential violent threats or other security risks. Together, through vigilance and prompt reporting of suspicious activities, we can foster a stronger and more secure workplace for everyone.

If you witness suspicious activity – CALL 911
